Request for Requirements. ORR #10491.

This office requests that information be obtained from the above referenced source, regarding the following:

1. All information available on the production of automatic and manual telephone systems and/or component parts; for example exchange equipment, boosters, transmitters, and microwave terminal and relay station equipment. Information should include description of product, application, quantities produced, distribution of products, and costs.
2. If not internally produced, who are the manufacturers of automatic and manual telephone systems with which Source is familiar, and secure nomenclature and technical specifications of such equipment, including costs.
3. Source's knowledge or estimate as to what extent conversion to automatic telephone systems in China has been effected.
4. Are microwave networks utilized and what are they primarily used for. Identify by type and manufacture any point-to-point decimeter equipment in use, and where located.
